

May 2016 Study Guide

Okay, lets get to April 2016 Study Guide answers. Some of you had concerns about my math on question 7 but I ran it by several smarter guys and they all checked it out. Even ran it by George Demetriou, editor of the Reddings Guide, and he concurred. April 2016 answers:

1. D. The kick went out of bounds untouched by R. The apparent touch by R70 is ignored as it was forced. Multiple options exist.
2. B Referee
3. C Remember this is a fifteen (15) yard penalty
4. E C and D are true. Complex play. Obviously A and B false.
5. A True
6. B K is guilty of free kick out of bounds untouched by R. The kick is out of bounds because it touched a player out of bounds.
7. A Many emailed to complain about this one. I initially was concerned about my math but double checked it. Reddings editor George Demetriou confirmed the math and agreed that A is the only FALSE answer.
8. A True. The ball has touched the ground.
9. A True. This is a fifteen yard penalty.
10. A True.

OPINION PLAY:

96.4% had this as a touchback. 0.001% had a penalty on the play and A ball at the B two yard line. ?? Penalty?? Rest had safety. This play is directly from Reddings 2015 NFHS Guide, page 131, example 8. Here, Mr. Demetriou has this play as a SAFETY and it caught my attention. My thinking this was a touchback- forced touching, etc. After several emails he has changed his answer but not due to forced touching. Obviously the initial force of the fumble by A has been spent. Applying the rules of physics, not football, the action that took the ball into the end zone was the action by B91. But, according to rules of football, a new force CANNOT come from a block. This would still be a touchback even if B91 had blocked his on player into the ball. Review 8-5-1 on force creation. Blocks are not mentioned.

OPINION PLAY: George Demetriou will be our arbiter on this play as he was in April. Email your answer to me: belindaandrick@gmail.com

A24 is a slot receiver and is flanked by A89 who is on the line of scrimmage. A24 is set after the huddle is broken and satisfied all inside nine yard marker requirements prior to ready for play. He then steps forward to the line of scrimmage, sets and pauses for several seconds. His next action is to go in motion towards his tackle A75 remaining on the line of scrimmage at the snap. Legal or illegal motion?
